Web Developer

I'm a curious person, when I was on my elementary days I was exposed to technology and I started learning how the internet and computer work their basics and then when on my high school days I was awarded the "Best in Computer" because of my fascinating skills for computers and tech. Then my instructor at that time is close to me so he gave me some advice and help me enhance my skills especially in graphics design then when I was on my 1st-year college I was curious about video editing so I started to learn it and then I kinda liked it and now I was one of the known video editors and videographer in our school I decided to make it my special skill and my source of income.

I've done quite a lot of group and solo projects being a videographer, back end developer and front end developer. I graduated Bachelor of Science and Information Technology and video editing is my passion and talent so I explore because I love it and the Idea of making something out of your mind and let the people relate to it is so good that you don't need a degree for it. I'm a hard working person I'm eager to learn and to expand my knowledge. I put a lot of effort and time on the task that is given to me.
